

Judith Wessel, Ph.D., was the Past President of Women's International Network of Utility Professionals (WiNUP), formerly the Electrical Women's Round Table Inc. (1992-1993).

She retired in 1995 after twenty-five years as an Ohio State University faculty member and State Extension Specialist. She is an expert in Ohio State University Extension, including Family Resource Management and 4-H Youth Development. Her teaching and research emphasize on extension issue areas of individual/families/youth, economy and environment. Judith has authored or co-authored over 100 extension bulletins, published papers and journal articles. She also authored or co-authored 21 funded internal and external grants. Judith is a consultant to State Departments of Education, national laboratories, agencies and associations, and numerous consumer products industries. She has held leadership roles in several states, national and international organizations and won numerous awards and honors for her outstanding work and services. Judith has extensive international experience in Latin America, Europe, Africa, Asia and Australia.

Judith holds a bachelor's degree in Vocational Home Economics from Purdue University and a master's degree in Household Economics/Management from Cornell University. She obtained her Ph.D. in Agricultural Education from The Ohio State University in 1985.

Judith enjoys gardening, grandchildren and travel after retirement in 1995. She completed The Ohio State University Master Gardening course and has been a certified master gardener in Clark County, Ohio. She is now an active Rotarian in the London Rotary Club.